HEY... WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO "KENTONIAN?"

No, it's not a mistake! That big blank space that used to house the name The Kentonian is supposed to be there.

Since the staff of the paper has changed the form and style, it also decided that a new name should be selected for the paper. So let's get busy and fill that empty space. After all, it is your newspaper. And even more important, the originator of the name that is finally selected will receive a lifetime subscription to the paper.

Suggested names for the paper may be placed in the boxes that are stationed at the front entrance to the building and in the Journalism Department, Room 207. Entries should include the suggested title, your name and address, and must either be printed or type-written.

Deadline for all entries is February 8, with the winner to be announced in a later issue.

Sigler Assumes Presidency

By Toniianni D'Antonio

Gary Sigler has assumed duties as president of the Student Government, while Tim Sigler has moved into the vice presidency.

Gary took over the presidency January 7, after Dennis Matson failed to meet the academic requirements necessary to remain in office. Matson had asked for a nine weeks leave of absence at that meeting, but the senators voted against it.

Several other senatorial and executive office posts have been filled by recent appointments. Former President James Foraker, who resigned in December, has been appointed a senator-secretary. Harry T. Hess has been appointed to fill a junior senator vacancy.

Sigler appointed Dennis Matson a senior senator and Mike Scherr and John Cole junior senators at the January 21 senate meeting.

There are still two junior senatorial seats and one senior senatorial seat to be filled by the president.

Sigler appointed Robert Ezkins to the high court and Bob Bullvan, Neal Gardner and Becky Gilbert to the student activities board.

The senate voted to have a public telephone installed outside of the building and to put in immediate effect the use of a booklet to help clubs organize, plan events, and get their events placed on the activities calendar.

With one home basketball game left, Kent State has compiled a 9-4 record, suffering the loss of three starts at the beginning of the season.

Coach Swope said he feels the replacements, some coming along “quickly”, as well as the team heads for the Second Annual Ohio Regional Campus Tournament February 8-10 in Ashhulda.

On February 3, in the last regular season game of the year, Kent will play Ohio State Mansfield at Canton Jordan Community Center at 8 p.m.

Kent lost six players due to academic standing, including starters Keith Murray (the leading scorer), Joe Viscido and Gary Hungerford.

Coach Swope noted you always miss boys who have played for you—their experience and ability—but added their replacements are coming along well.

In the first five games, Stark won four and lost one, being Midland Heights College, Ohio State Marion 70-57, Kent Ashhulda 88-78 and Ohio State Mansfield 77-76 in overtime. Terry Byers scored 29 and he added McGhee 10.

On December 16, Stark won easy over Cleveland Lake State 51-46, leaving them 21-7 for the season.
